Mr. A N. Raghavachari's permanent pay in the list of Asstt Comrs is Rs 425.

As Ag Senior Asstt Comr., he draws Rs 425 + an acting allowance of Rs 75 or a Salary of Rs 500 pm. He is also getting a duty allowance of Rs 75 pm as Asstt Comptr & Auditor. Therefore he was drawing an emolument of Rs 575 pm.

Now as Ag Dy Comptr he will draw Rs 425 + an acting allowance of Rs 120 pm or Rs 545 in all. No duty allowance is attached to the Dy Comptr's post.

Therefore as Ag Dy Comptr he will get Rs 30 less than as Asstt Auditor.

Mr. Raghavachari himself recently applied for a transfer to the General line. If his request was complied with he would not get the duty allowance of Rs 75. His emoluments would have been reduced by this amount.

Now by being appointed as Ag Dy Comptr he get a higher Grade 600-40-800. He will be acting Dy Comptr only during

It is a point for orders whether he should be compensated for temporary loss of emoluments especially when his prospects have been much improved by giving him a higher grade.

The officer, owing to the fact that no duty allowance is attached to the office of the Dy Compte. But it is difficult to accept the principle that Compensation by way of an additional increment should happen for loss of the duty allowance on change of appointment.

In fact the duty allowance of Rs 75 has been considered as specially high and it is under contemplation to reduce it to Rs 50. in the case of Civil Service asst Comrs doing duty in the Compte office.

In view of all these considerations, I agree with the opinion of the Chief Secy that there are no good grounds for sanctioning the request.

No. 651

Submitted to His Highness.

Mr. A.N. Raghavachar who has been appointed to officiate as Deputy Comptroller in the vacancy due to the grant of leave to Mr. Bishtopanth Badami preparatory to retirement, has represented that the change of the appointment has involved a pecuniary loss to him in as much as he was getting as Assistant Comptroller and Auditor Rs 575/- per mensem, whereas in the present post he will be getting only Rs 545/-.

The Comptroller recommends that in view of the fact that the officer by his promotion has lost the emoluments which he was already in receipt of and that the promotion itself is to a superior post to that which he was holding, recommends that he may be given the minimum pay of the post viz., Rs 600/-.

The Second Member of Council supports the Comptroller's recommendation. As the vacancy is a permanent one, Mr. Raghavachar may be permitted to draw the minimum pay of the Deputy Comptroller viz., Rs 600/- from the date on which he took charge of the appointment.
